REMARKS

Missing voters were last seen across Alabama on the morning of November 8, 2016. These are civilian, non-military, non-institutionalized adults who were aged 18 years or older at the time of the election.

DETAILS

The Women's Institute for Independent Social Enquiry (WiISE), a nonpartisan think tank, is issuing this report to alert the public to the millions of Alabama voters missing from the November 2016 elections. Concerned individuals with an interest in locating these citizens and aiding their future participation in Alabama elections are urged to share this alert widely.

About the Authors

Elizabeth B. Pathak, PhD is the President and Chair of the Board of WiISE. She is a population health scientist whose research focuses on geographic, socioeconomic, racial, ethnic, and gender disparities in health outcomes in the United States. She is a passionate advocate for methodologically rigorous scholarship which seeks to uncover the power relations that perpetuate socioeconomic and health inequalities.

Janelle Menard, PhD is the Vice-President of WiISE. She is an applied anthropologist with expertise in mixed research methods and community-based participatory research strategies in social science and community health research. Dr. Menard advocates for a progressive, socio-ecological research approach to understanding and addressing issues that disproportionately affect disenfranchised groups.

About WiISE

The Women's Institute for Independent Social Enquiry (WiISE) is a nonpartisan, progressive think tank whose mission is to foster a just society through independent social science, humanities, arts, and public policy research. We believe that rigorous evidence-based research, when effectively translated for a broad spectrum of audiences, can be a catalyst for transformational social change. We champion the ideas of women by cultivating and supporting women scholars and leaders.

Who Are Alabama's Missing Voters?

Missing voters are voting age citizens who did not vote in November 2016. Missing voters reflect the diversity of Alabama as a whole. They are men and women of all ages and races. Nonetheless, voting participation in Alabama varies considerably across specific population groups. The purpose of this report is to provide a detailed description of the characteristics of missing voters in Alabama and to inform the widespread grassroots efforts to increase voter participation in the 2018 mid-term elections and the 2020 presidential election.

What is the Missing Voters Project?

We believe that civic disengagement represents a fundamental threat to the separation of powers in our government, and to American democracy itself. Unfortunately, low rates of voter participation have persisted in the United States for many years, and a culture of complacency has ossified around this political reality. We chose the design motif of an FBI Missing Persons poster for the Missing Voters Project with the goal of eliciting feelings of unease and alarm to fracture this culture of complacency.

The purpose of the Missing Voters Project (MVP) is to present rigorous, impartial data about the demographic characteristics of missing voters in a format that can be easily accessed and used by a wide range of educational, community-based, faith-based, and worker-friendly organizations in their efforts to increase civic engagement. Missing Voters Project reports for other states and the nation can be found on our website (<https://www.wiise-usa.org/mvp>).

Data and Methods

The Missing Voters Project data are from a special supplement to the Current Population Survey, administered in November 2016 immediately following the election by the Bureau of the Census. This report includes statistically-weighted estimates of percentages and population counts derived from a Alabama sample of over 2,000 adult respondents. Data in response categories for which the estimated Alabama population was fewer than 75,000 citizens have been suppressed per Census Bureau recommendation.

Full technical details for the Missing Voters Project, links to the original census data, and other valuable resources are available at <https://www.wiise-usa.org/mvp>.

Limitations

We recognize that there are important voting justice issues that can not be addressed directly through the data analyzed in our report. These issues include voter suppression and intimidation, purging of voter registration rolls, partisan gerrymandering, and other direct and indirect tactics that result in citizen disenfranchisement. Readers are encouraged to consult the Resources at the end of this report (pages 8-9) for links to organizations working directly on these issues.

How to Use This Report

Each page of this report has been designed with a dual purpose: as an integrated part of the whole report, and as a stand-alone "Fact Sheet." Organizations working to increase voter registration can pull out individual pages to reproduce and share. On our website (<https://www.wiise-usa.org/mvp>), readers can download the whole report, or choose to download single page fact sheets on their topics of interest.

Citizens 18+ years old in 2016
Total = 3.7 million

Alabama Voting in 2016

In 2016, there were an estimated 3.7 million civilian voting age citizens in Alabama. The citizen population estimates shown in this report include only the non-institutionalized population. This means that prisoners, nursing home residents, and other institutionalized persons are not included in any of our reported statistics. However, voting age citizens who may be legally ineligible to vote in Alabama are still included in the estimates in this report.

More than half (57.4%) of voting age citizens in Alabama reported voting in November 2016. There were 1.6 million missing voters, 1.1 million (72.3%) of whom were not registered to vote before the election (Figure 1).

Alabama’s Voting Rate Lower Than National Average

Nationwide, 61.4% of adult citizens voted in 2016, compared with 57.4% of citizens in Alabama (Figure 2). Only a minority of missing voters nationwide were registered to vote before the election (23.2%, Figure 2); in Alabama the proportion who were registered (27.7%, Figure 1) was higher than the national average.

Young Adults Least Likely to Vote but Majority of Missing Voters were 25+ Years Old

Voting participation varied sharply by age in Alabama in 2016. Fewer than half (42.7%) of young adult citizens voted, compared with 66.9% of senior citizens (Figure 3). Middle-aged adults (45 to 64 years old) were the largest group of voters (1.3 million) and the largest group of missing voters (0.5 million). For all ages, the majority of missing voters were not registered to vote prior to the election (Figure 4).

Young Adults

Fewer than half (42.7%) of the 0.5 million citizens aged 18 to 24 years in Alabama voted in 2016 (Figure 3). There were 0.3 million missing voters, the majority (75.1%) of whom were not registered to vote before the election (Figure 4).

Adults 25-44 Years

More than half (55.2%) of adults 25 to 44 years old voted in 2016 (Figure 3). There were 0.5 million missing voters, of whom 28.0% were registered to vote before the election (Figure 4).

Middle-Aged Adults

There were 1.3 million middle-aged citizens in Alabama and 59.5% reported voting in 2016 (Figure 3). There were 0.5 million missing middle-aged voters, the majority (76.9%) of whom were not registered to vote before the election (Figure 4).

Seniors

There were 0.8 million senior citizens in Alabama in 2016 and 66.9% of them voted (Figure 3). Of the 0.3 million missing voters, the majority (60.6%) were not registered to vote prior to the 2016 election (Figure 4).

Women

There were 1.9 million voting age women citizens in Alabama in 2016. The majority (59.5%) of them voted (Figure 5). There were 0.8 million missing women voters, and the majority (71.9%) were not registered before the election (Figure 6). There were 0.2 million women who reported being registered but who did not vote.

Men

There were 1.7 million voting age men citizens in Alabama in 2016, and more than half (54.9%) voted (Figure 5). There were 0.8 million missing men voters, and 72.7% (0.6 million) of them were not registered to vote before the election (Figure 6). There were 0.2 million men who reported being registered but who did not vote.

Alabama Blacks Most Likely to Vote; Majority of Missing Voters were White

Voting participation varied somewhat by race in Alabama in 2016. Blacks had the highest rate of voting (60.1%), followed by non-Hispanic whites (57.0%) (Figure 7). The majority of missing voters were white (1.1 million). For all groups, the majority of missing voters were not registered to vote before the election (Figure 8).

Citizens 18+ years old in Alabama in 2016
Total = 3.7 million

Whites

Non-Hispanic whites were the largest group of citizens in Alabama (2.5 million) and more than half (57.0%) voted in 2016 (Figure 7). There were 1.1 million missing voters, including 0.8 million (72.3%) who were not registered to vote prior to the election (Figure 8).

Blacks

The majority (60.1%) of Alabama's 1.0 million Black citizens voted in 2016 (Figure 7). There were 0.4 million missing Black voters, most (69.9%) of whom were not registered prior to the 2016 election (Figure 8).

Citizens 18+ years old who did not vote in Alabama in 2016
Total = 1.6 million

Hispanics

Voting results were suppressed for Alabama's small Hispanic population (see Notes).

American Indians

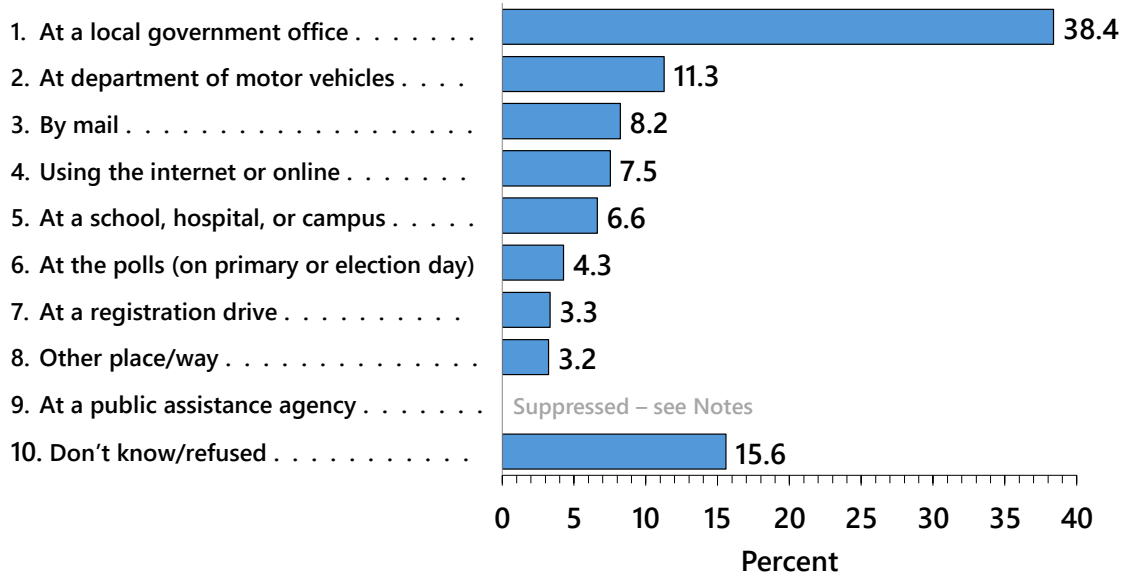

Voting results were suppressed for Alabama's small American Indian population (see Notes).

Notes

Whites are non-Hispanic, and Hispanics may be of any race. Blacks and American Indians include multiracial individuals. Data are not shown for Asians who were <1% of Alabama's population. Please note that some numbers may appear not to add up correctly due to rounding. Voting data are from the Bureau of the Census, Current Population Survey (November 2016). Figure 9: Where did Citizens Register to Vote?
 Citizens 18+ years old who were registered to vote in Alabama, 2016
 Total = 2.5 million

What Does this Chart Show About Where Citizens Registered to Vote?

Respondents to the Voting Supplement of the Current Population Survey were asked in November 2016 about the method and location of their most recent registration to vote. Only people who said that they were currently registered were asked this question. A notable minority (15.6%) of registered citizens in Alabama did not know or remember how they had registered to vote (Figure 9). It is possible that citizens who had been continuously registered at the same residential address for several years were less likely to remember their method of registration.

Local Government Offices

Taken together, registration at local government offices (38.4%) and department of motor vehicles (11.3%) accounted for 49.7% of voter registrations prior to the November 2016 elections. Results for public assistance agencies were suppressed (see Notes). In addition, 8.2% of registered citizens reported that they mailed their voter registration form to a government election office (Figure 9).

Voter Outreach Efforts

In total, 9.9% of registered citizens reported registering to vote as a result of voter outreach efforts at a school, hospital, or campus (6.6%) or at a registration drive (3.3%). Another 4.3% of citizens reported registering at the polls on primary or election day (Figure 9).

Internet

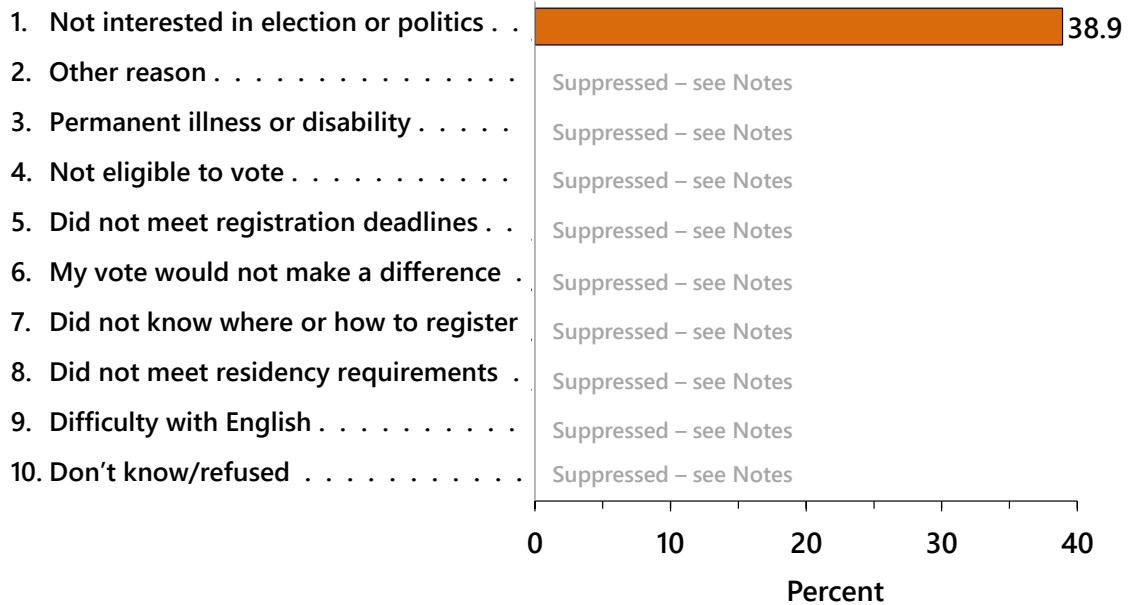

The internet was the fourth most common method of voter registration in Alabama. In November 2016, 7.5% of registered citizens reported that they had registered online (Figure 9).

Notes

Please note that some numbers may appear not to add up correctly due to rounding. Voting data are from the Bureau of the Census, Current Population Survey (November 2016). This report includes statistically-weighted estimates of percentages and population counts derived from a Alabama sample of over 2,000 adult respondents. Data in response categories for which the estimated Alabama population was fewer than 75,000 citizens have been suppressed per Census Bureau recommendation. Figure 10: Reasons for Not Registering
 Citizens 18+ years old who were not registered in Alabama, 2016
 Total = 0.5 million

What Does this Chart Show About Reasons for Not Registering to Vote?

Non-voting respondents to the November 2016 Current Population Survey were asked if they had registered to vote. Respondents who replied “no” were asked their reason for not registering. Self-reported reasons are shown in descending order by frequency in Figure 10.

Readers should be aware that respondents who refused to state whether or not they had registered were not asked about their reasons. Therefore, the respondent universe for this question (0.5 million adults) is smaller than the total number who were not registered (1.1 million) as shown in Figure 1. We classified people who refused to say whether or not they were registered as unregistered citizens.

Lack of Interest

The single largest reason (38.9%) that citizens in Alabama stated for not registering was that they were not interested in the election or they were not involved in politics (Figure 10).

Results for all other reasons for not registering to vote were suppressed (see Notes).

Notes

Please note that some numbers may appear not to add up correctly due to rounding. Voting data are from the Bureau of the Census, Current Population Survey (November 2016). This report includes statistically-weighted estimates of percentages and population counts derived from a Alabama sample of over 2,000 adult respondents.
